SANDBACH SCHOOL

ICT SUITE REFURBISHMENT

In the lead up to the summer break of 2008, A-Z Partnership were contacted by Sandbach School with a view to assisting the school in developing their ideas for the refurbishment of their ICT suite.

A-Z and the school were involved in regular consultation over the design and specification to ensure all aspects of the schools requirements were met. The design was finalised by the school and work commenced on site in late August. All of the decoration and furniture installation was completed ready for the new term in September.

“Innovative design”

Abandoning traditional perimeter benching, the school led an innovative design which allows delivery to be conducted from one focus of the room and practical work monitored from another. This ensures that the teaching staff can readily see student computer screens at all times in order to support learning.

“Re-use and recycle”

A-Z and the school were able to lessen the impact on the environment during the course of this refurbishment by retaining existing serviceable fitted furniture and renewing the outward faces to match the remainder of the installation.

We were very impressed with the professionalism of A-Z Partnership from our first contact to the completion of the project. We are delighted with the new ICT Suite which was finished on time, on budget, and to a high standard of quality.
